WILL FORCE MAYOR ON APPOINTMENT OF ENG.

Demand Will be Made Tomorrow for Special Council Meeting

IT WON'T BE CONSIDERED TONIGHT

This Plan Abandoned Today, But Powell Matter Will be Settled by the Council at an Early Date, According to Plan

Tomorrow a call will be issued for a special meeting of the council with the end in view of finally disposing of the Powell controversy. A resolution will be adopted, fixing a time at a subsequent meeting, at which the appointment of a city engineer to succeed Powell shall be made; this step is in accordance with the rules established by the city charter.

It is the purpose of those who are taking the step to force the mayor to show his hand. The movement is being made by democrats who are not pleased with the recent action of the mayor in evading the duty of naming an engineer.

A sensational coup for closing the incident at the council meeting tonight had been planned, but it was abandoned this afternoon upon legal advice, an opinion having been given that the proceeding would not stand the fire of the courts.

The plan which has been outlined for this evening, and which is now abandoned, was a parallel to the sensational Powell-Emberson affair in which the appointment of the first fire and police commission under the then new state law became a court controversy twice sent to the tribunal of last resort.

With Mayor Torrance in Chicago, and a president pro. tem. in the chair, a resolution making tonight the time for the appointment of a city engineer was to have been introduced.

Thereupon the chair was to have appointed a city engineer to succeed Frank Powell.

This procedure was mapped after that followed in the fire and police commission case, which went twice to the supreme court, and in which the practice here outlined was finally sustained. In that case Mayor Frank Powell was in St. Paul and the first board under the new law was to be appointed. Col. Powell appointed a board headed by his brother, Dr. George E. Powell, from his hotel in St. Paul; James G. Murray, president of the council, appointed another board here. The Murray board was sustained, and the law giving the acting officer in case the executive is out of the city, the power to appoint, was upheld.

The hope of democrats was that this step will bring to an end the present internecine strife in the party. It was pointed out that it would give Mayor Torrance a chance to withdraw his support of Powell with less akwardness than was anticipated. It would also save Mr. Powell from the airing of his personal affairs urged upon the city council by certain newspapers.

It is presumed that John Downs, alderman from the Fifteenth ward, or Alderman Killer of the First ward, would have been named temporary chairman, to make the appointment.

Mayor Torrance is in Chicago. He made a trip to West Salem Saturday, going from here to the Windy City. His departure on the eve of an important council meeting has been pointed to as significant by people who have been watching the trend of events. It is even hinted that he surmised what developments were to come and deported himself accordingly.

"THE PRESIDENT" WINS IN A WALK AT EAU CLAIRE

Judges' Effort to Throw Race to Home Horses Notwithstanding--Takes Five Heats

The "President," the famous unbeaten racer owned by Wilson and Robertson of this city won a remarkable race at Eau Claire Saturday afternoon, taking the 2:19 trot in five straight heats.

In the first heat the President won by five lengths, but the judges claiming a foul gave the race to Trixey H., a local horse. The second heat was won by the President by ten lengths, and this was given to Patchenwood, another local horse, on a foul claim. The third heat the President won by four lengths and another attempt was made by the judges to give the heat to another horse. This resulted in next to a riot in the loud cries being raised to give the horse what he had won.

The fourth and fifth heats the President took in a walk. The horse has never been beaten and is considered one of the remarkable pieces of horseflesh owned in Wisconsin.

Hereafter "Billy" Caturia, driver of the famous Castlewood will drive the President and Castlewood and the President and Wilson, Robertson and Thomas, owner of Castlewood, will work together.

The President will race at Chippewa Falls tomorrow, but no effort will be made to work him out hard. The President will not race on any more half mile tracks, except in La Crosse. He is entered at Hamlin, Milwaukee and Libertyville for the coming three weeks.

Wilson & Robertson refused $5,500 cash for the President after the victory at Eau Claire.

'TWAS LOVE MATCH SAYS MRS. TAGGART

Beautiful Wife of Capt. Testifies

LOVED EACH OTHER

When She Joined him in the Philippines he Was not Right

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 28.—Mrs. Taggart entered court this morning prepared to take the stand. While she waited, attorneys for the opponents engaged in a cotroversy over papers on file at the war departmbent. Wertz and Smyser called each other liars and the court threatened to punish them for contempt.

When Mrs. Taggart took the stand she was cool. In answer to questions she said:

"I'm 35 years old, born and raised in Chicago. I am the daughter of John Manville, but was the adopted daughter of Mrs. Culver. My mother died when I was small. Mr. Culver was a total abstainer. I was brought up that way. I attended Sunday school and received a musical education.

"I first met Captain Taggart at my sister's home at Highland Park. He was stationed at Fort Sheridan. We loved each other. I am sure it was a love match.

"I was married at my mother's home in Chicago in 1890. After our marriage I went with my husband to Plattsburg barracks. My mother furnished our home.

"I first drank beer at Plattsburg. I was always happy there.

"We moved to Fort Thomas, Ky., where first I met Captain Ritcher, when an enlisted man. As a friend and officer's son he was allowed to call in citizen's clothes. After he was commisisoned he became a great friend of my husband.

"The captain and I loved company. Our home was the gathering place of young people. We went everywhere we were invited. I paid many expenses myself. That was not even a subject of conversation between us and as the captain was ambitious, I tried to help him advance."

Mrs. Taggart said when she joined her husband in the Philippines after a long separation, he was a changed man. She thought the hardships in the tropics injured his brain. He was so jealous that innocent happenings became enormous offenses in his mind, she said, and he treated Billy Taggart as she would any brother or sister of the captain, but Orrville gossips misconstrued her kindness and fed the captain's mind with suspicion.

Holmes Surrenders

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., formerly statistician in the department of agriculture, surrendered himself to the United States Marshall this morning in response to an indictment found last week charging conspiracy in connection with the premature publication of the government crop reports.

J. H. Smith, assistant superintendent of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., who was suddenly taken ill Saturday, has entirely recovered and was able to be around again today.

POSTOFFICE INSPECTOR E. E. FRASER.

Official to whose clever detective work solving of La Crosse county jail delivery mystery and arrest of Turnkey J. M. Childers is due.

TRAINOR AND CUNNINGHAM BOTH IN CHICAGO

Authorities are Searching There for the Famous Crooks and Their More Famous Wives

Homer Earl Trainor and Andrew Cunningham, the two postoffice thieves who escaped recently from the La Crosse jail, are believed to be hiding in Chicago.

Postoffice Inspector James E. Stuart yesterday furnished the Chicago police photographs and complete descriptions of the men. The inspector received his information from members of the gang who aided them in their escape. The gang, directed by "Eddie" Fay, is believed to have furnished the $400 alleged to have been used to influence J. M. Childers.

Fay, futhermore, acted in collusion with the wives of Trainor and Cuningham, it is charged. Together they raised the necessary money and saw that it was placed properly, Col. Stuart believes. The women are believed to be in Chicago, where they probably have been joined by their husbands.

Search was made in Chicago for Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Trainor. They lived up to six weeks ago in a south side hotel, and appeared to be well supplied with funds. No trace of them could be discovered. Mrs. Cunningham has a sister who works in a printing office in Plymouth place, but she said that she had not heard from her sister lately.

Believes Women Did the Work.

"There is no question in my mind," said Inspector Stuart, "that the escape of Trainor and Cunningham, as well as that of Fay and half a dozen other notorious postoffice thieves that the Wisconsin jails were not strong enough to hold, was planned in Chicago. The two women did the work, aided by the turnkey, but Fay was the master mind that directed it.

"I have received information that Fay is in Chicago, but I am slow to believe that man of his intelligence would take chances by remaining here, but no matter where he is it is certain that he found the money and directed the jail breaking.

"Fay, Trainor and Cunningham, and a score of others belong to a gang of thieves who devote their entire attention to postoffices. There always will be trouble with them until Fay is rearrested. The kind of a man Fay is and the extent of his resources may be gathered from his offer of $50,000 to me if I would, as he expressed it, 'be a good fellow.'

"When he was taken to Wisconsin after his arrest in April, 1904, he offered the deputy United States marshal who had him in charge $10,000 if the latter would allow him a trifle of freedom as the train reached the northern outskirts of Evanston."

Developments Here.

Attorney Frank Winter, who was engaged by Trainor's wife to defend her husband, was offered $500 to secure his release. Winter told the woman he would have nothing to do with a plan of the kind proposed. She then increased the offer to $1,000, but in vain.

Postoffice Inspector Fraser secured much of his information which led up to the arrest of Childers on the charge of receiving money for allowing the escape of prisoners from the son of Mrs. Trainor, who divulged all he knew through a desire to see his father punished for bringing trouble upon his mother.

Inspector Fraser has discovered that Trainor left La Crosse on the midnight Burlington limited, bound for Chicago, on the night of his escape. He was within two hours' ride of Chicago when the escape was discovered.

OCEAN LINER ACTS FOR CUPID

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

JANESVILLE, Wis., Aug. 28.—Dr. George Fifield met, Miss Elizabeth Weidensdall on an ocean steamer en route for Europe in September. The steamer acquaintance ripened into love and tomorrow afternoon they will be married at the home of the bride's mother, 5703 Monroe avenue, Chicago. Engine House is Razed

Workmen this morning completed the task of tearing down the old Third ward engine house, and Contractor John Miller expects to have work on the foundation for the new structure under way by Wednesday morning.

Temporary quarters for the engine house apparatus and men have been arranged in the rear of the old structure, the old blacksmith shop being made habitable. It will take a couple of months to complete the new building.

TURNKEY CHILDERS TO BE FREE ON $1,500 BAIL

Sanction by Court all Necessary

HAMMER AND CHISEL FOUND

Small Boy Reported to Have Crawled Into the Opening

Indications at 3 o'clock this afternoon were that J. M. Childers, confined in the county jail on the charge of assisting United States prisoners to escape from that institution, will be released on bail provided the sureties he furnishes are satisfactory to United States Court Commissioner Alfred Harrison.

L. W. Gosnell, attorney, called on a number of Mr. Childers' friends this morning and early this afternoon it was announced that he had secured three businessmen who had agreed to go surety on the $1,500 bail bond demanded by Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison is out of the city today and was telephoned this afternoon that the bond was ready for his approval. He will probably arrive home tonight and pass upon the bond in the morning.

Tools Are Found.

This morning a small boy was taken to the jail and it is reported was asked to crawl into the hole under Cunningham's cell from which the robber made his escape. It is reported that the boy found a hammer and chisel in the opening, which was used by Cunningham in displacing the stone in his cell floor. It is thought he dropped the chisel and hammer in his flight.

When seen this afternoon on the matter Sheriff John Haugen denied the truth of the story and declared that while the boy had been taken to the jail he had not entered the opening, and that the officials had busied themselves on other clews. No information as to what else was found is obtainable.

RYAN SAYS HE IS ANXIOUS FOR AN INVESTIGATION

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

SEATTLE, Aug. 28.—Thomas F. Ryan, a New York financier who recently acquired control of the Equitable, today says: "My acquisition of stock in the Equitable and persuasion of Morton to take the presidency was a public duty which any number of men would have undertaken had they understood the consequences of further dissension among old officers and directors. I happened to have a better view of the situation than others, that's all. We insist upon a public investigation of the Equitable and all other insurance companies in justice to policy holders. The federal government should have the same supervision over insurance it has over national banks. The Equitable is as sound as the bank of England."

NO HOPE OF PEACE

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 28.—Witte this morning, when asked about the report that the president was authorized by Japan to waive all questions of indemnity and sell half of Saghalin for a redemption price to be fixed by a commission of representatives of neutral European powers, said:

"That is merely a new version of what I explained a few days ago. It's an attempt of Japan to get indemnity under another name.

"Russia has rejected it."

Crisis Not Passed.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 28.—The crisis in the peace negotiations is not yet passed. Although many messages have passed between the envoys and their governments announcement is made that nothing has been received to change the situation. The spokesmen for Witte and Komura say there is no hope of peace.

Council Adjourns.

Tokio, Aug. 28.—The council mysteriously adjourned this afternoon.

The fact that you have a horse to sell is a secret, shared by yourself and a few friends, perhaps, until you have advertised it in the classified columns—then the people who want to buy horses are "put wise."

RECLAIMING THE DESERT LANDS OF THE GREAT WEST

Leo. E. Granke, La Crosse Man Engaged in Engineering Work Writes for Tribune on Vast Undertaking

Since the passage of the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902, great progress has been made by the reclamation service under the direction of its chief engineer, F. H. Newell. From the time of its introduction this service has developed into one of the most powerful organizations of engineering talent in the world. Experts have been drawn largely from private practice until at the present time one can see a great many men enrolled who were formerly able consulting engineers with highly profitable businesses, who gave up their practices to join the great race for honor afforded by the development of the numerous projects which are constantly undergoing investigation.

It might be stated also in this connection that one could at once recognize a different moving spirit among the members of this service in marked contrast to that in some of the other departments of the government service.

Among the public it is the general belief that any man holding a government position is simply drawing a pension. A few months' work would convince the ordinary person that these conditions are being reduced to a minimum in the reclamation service. The men at the head of the department are honest, energetic, hard working men and they expect and demand the same consideration from those throughout the lower grades. Every man's promotion is based entirely upon merit and absolutely independent of political influence or graft. Importunities for promotion are prohibited, the penalty generally being expulsion from the service.

The principal projects under construction or consideration are:

State.	Project.	Acres Irrigable.
Arizona,	Salt River	160,000
California,	Yuma	85,000
Colorado,	Gunnison	100,000
Idaho,	Minidoka	130,000
Montana,	Milk River	200,000
Montana,	Huntley	40,000
Nebraska,	North Platte	100,000
Nevada,	Truckee	200,000
New Mexico,	Hondo	10,000
N. Dakota,	Ft. Buford	60,000
Oregon,	Malheaur	90,000
S. Dakota,	Bellefourche	60,000
Washington,	Palouse	100,000
Utah,	Utah Lake	60,000
Wyoming,	Shoshone	160,000

The Salt river,, Gunnison, Minidoka and Truckee projects have been in construction for some time. The Truckee project was the first to be approved and work was started during the fall of 1902. Water was turned into the ditches for the first time during the month of June, 1905. The North Platte project passed to construction early this spring.

The Yuma, Bellefourches, Fort Buford, Shoshone and Huntley projects have been under construction since June. The Milk river, Houdo, Malheur, Utah lake and Palouse projects may pass to construction at any time in the near future.

Besides the above mentioned projects there are a great many others constantly undergoing different stages of investigation. The estimated cost of this reclamation varies from $20 to $30 per acre. To give one somewhat of an idea of what one of these projects might consist we might briefly describe the Milk river project, Montana.

The Milk River Project, Mont.

The main range of the Rocky Mountains traverses the western part of Montana in a somewhat southeasterly direction. The higher peaks of these mountains rise to an elevation of 10,000 feet above mean sea level. The eastern slope of the divide, especially the vicinity of the Blackfeet Indian reservation, is dotted by numerous glacial lakes, morasses, benches, etc., which bear evidence of what has taken place long ago through the action of glaciers. The most important of these lakes are the St. Mary lakes. The Upper St. Mary lake is 15 miles in length with an average width of ¾ miles and the Lower St. Mary lake is 6½ miles in length with an average width of ¾ miles. The Upper St. Mary lake has and elevation of 4,472 and the Lower St. Mary Lake an elevation of 4,460. These lakes fed by glaciers, principally the Big Blackfoot, form the headwaters of the St. Mary river. From the Lower St. Mary lake the St. Mary river flows northeasterly some 14 miles and then passes into Canada, its waters in turn flowing into the Saskatchewan river, Lake Winnipeg, Nelson river and finally into Hudson Bay.

The Milk river rises in a much lower and much less mountainous country east of St. Mary lakes, its headwaters are made up principally of three small streams, North Forks, Middle Forks and South Forks of Milk riXver.

Without costly storage the supply of the Milk river is insufficient to irrigate any large tract, while the St. Mary river on the other hand furnishes an abundant supply which at present goes mostly to waste.

In general the Milk river project consists of (1) impounding the flood waters of St. Mary lakes by damming the lower end of the said lakes; (2) diverting this water by means of a canal 24 miles in length over into Milk river; (3) allow this diverted water to pass down the natural channel of Mil river and storing the same in a large reservoir, Chain lakes reservoir, 30 miles northwest of Havre, Montana; (4) allow this stored water to pass down Milk river and divert the same at points further down the valley to serve the irrigable lands under the system.

(1) The dam at the lower end of the St. Mary lakes will be an earth structure, with a concrete case wall, having a total length of ½ mile and a maximum height of 50 feet. The earth material will be placed in the dam by sluicing the waters of Swift Current creek being used for that purpose. The reservoir created by this dam will have a capacity of 225,000 acre feet.

(2) The canal line necessary to conduct the waters of this reservoir over into Milk river has a choice of two routes, one located wholly in the United States, called the United States line, the other partly in the United States and partly in Canada, called the International line. The International line has a number of advantages over the United States line, the two most important of which are economy and safety as regards to maintenance. Either line will have a length of 24 miles.

The first 7 miles of the United States line follows a very rough, steep, broken side hill. At many places along here the country is interesting even though not beautiful.

BUSINESS COLLEGE'S CATALOGUE

One of the most elaborate school catalogues ever issued in the northwest has just come off the press for the Wisconsin Business University of this city. Printed on expensive paper and filled with handsome designs and half tone cuts of the school and its various departments, its president and faculty and hundreds of graduates, all encompassed by an expensive cover design, the book represents the highest type of the printer's art. It is not only a credit to the enterprising president who conceived it and the college, but to the city as well.

Mr. Toland's novel and expensive advertising schemes have given him an enviable place among the enterprising industries of the northwest that seek to make known their wares, but all previous efforts of Mr. Toland along this line have been excelled in this latest production.

The catalogue contains in an attractive an congested form all the information generally requested by prospective students, putting forth in a concise manner all the advantages and inducements offered at this school to the secker of business knowledge.

It also contains the portraits, names and positions of several hundred graduates of the school whose combined salaries are in excess of $800,000 per year. More than 4,000 other graduates of the university have been equally successful.

Numerous testimonials from leading businessmen of the northwest attest to the intelligence and practical ability of the Wisconsin Business University graduates. The book is full of valuable information for the prospective student in addition to being an elaborate work of art.

LA CRESCENT SCHOOL BOARD TO SETTLE IT

Meeting to be Held to Arrange for Building of New School According to Court's Decision

At a meeting of the La Crescent school board called for tomorrow evening steps will be taken to proceed with the work of building the new $6,700 school house, the work on which was prevented by the injunction secured by the anti-school faction of the Minnesota village. Trustee E. J. Wiley, who was in the city today declared the school board will make an effort to have the work rushed so that the building may be completed in time for occupation by January 1st.

Mr. Wilsey had with him today a copy of the decision of Judg Kingsley. The court holds that the trustees were authorized by special election to borrow $6,700 from the state for the purpose of building the school and that they were empowered to contract for the building of the new school. The decision holds that the trustees had no authority to authorize the destruction of the old building, but it holds also that the trustees, Albinus Lilly, Edwin J. Wilsey and Frank R. Smith are in no way liable personally for the old building, nor are they liable for the trustee Blinston.

It is possible papers will be served on Blinston, the local contractor who undertook the razing of the old building, and that he may be held liable, though this step is not considered likely.

The wire was supposed to have been torn down by the wind. The horse's face and various parts of its body was terribly burned, the skin being taken off in chunks. The animal emited cries like a human being in distress. Mr. George succeeded in extricating the animal and it is thought the horse will recover. Mr. George, who was alone in the rig, was unhurt.

WRONG SORT.

Perhaps Plain Old Meat, Potatoes and Bread may Be Against You for a Time.

A change to the right kind of food can lift one from a sick bed. A lady in Welden, Ill., says:

"Last spring I became bed-fast with severe stomach trouble accompanied by sick headache. I got worse and worse until I became so low I could sarcely retain any food at all, although I tried every kind. I had become completely discouraged, had given up all hope and thought I was doomed to starve to death, till one day my husband trying to find something I could retain brought home Grape-Nuts.

"To my surprise the food agreed with me, digested perfectly and without distress. I began to gain strength at once, my flesh (which had been flabby) grew firmer, my health improved in every way and every day, in a few weeks I gained twenty pounds in weight. I liked Grape-Nuts so well that for 4 months I ate no other food, and always felt as well satisfied after eating as if I had sat down to a fine banquet.

"I had no return of the miserable sick stomach nor of the headaches, that I used to have when I ate other food. I am now a well woman, doing all my own work again, and feel that life is worth living.

"Grape-Nuts food has been a godsend to my family; it surely saved my life and my two little boys have thriven on it wonderfully." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

WITHEE POSTOFFICE ROBBED: FAY GANG DEFIES OFFICIALS

This is the ninth postoffice robbery reported in this district within six weeks, other offices broken into being located at Boyd, Humbird, Warren, Jim Falls, Stoddard, Bangor, Augusta and Hersey.

Mr. Fraser believes that all of these robberies were perpetrated by the same gang of yeggmen.

SLANDER A CONSTANT INJURY.

Milwaukee is employing a grand jury to put its affairs right. The fact that it has done so has brought no discredit upon the city. The only difference is a favorable one, for the grand jury has put an end to conditions that have been understood to prevail for a long time; the momentary notoriety has been more vivid than the standing rumors and accusations preceding it, but it has not been more damaging, and the net result is the vindication of the honorable citizenship of the people of Milwaukee. What Governor Folk, of Missouri, said in a public speech to the effect that he regarded the calling of a grand jury a compliment to the people of the city affected, is apparently sound logic. Had Milwaukee had no grafters, the proof of that fact that would have resulted from its grand jury investigation would have been ample reward for the effort, just as conviction of dishonest men and the establishment of honest conditions is a benefit. It is a mistake for any city to permit slanderous rumors to defame it. If the rumors are untrue, investigation should be had to silence them; if they are true, investigation should be had to prove them and punish the guilty.

Some people are saying that The Tribune is wrong in having suggested a grand jury for La Crosse. A few of these people are honestly mistaken; the rest of them are mistaken. To those who cry out loudest against the idea the finger of suspicion is most apt to be directed.

The fact is that The Tribune makes no charges against anyone. It merely takes cognizance of charges that are becoming too emphatic to be longer overlooked. It may be true that a grand jury would find that satisfactory conditions exist here; if that be so, all the better. But if public wrongs daily rumored to exist are really with us, now is the time to learn the facts and apply the remedy.

THE PAPER THAT PRINTS THE NEWS FIRST.

There are in La Crosse two English evening daily newspapers, and a morning English daily newspaper.

Each of these papers contends that it is the leading daily of the community.

There have been three stories of great public interest during the past three month. They were:

The Powell-Phillippi sensation. (Printed in The Tribune on the evening of Aug. 5th, printed in The Chronicle on the morning of Aug. 6th, and printed in the Leader-Press on the evening of Aug. 6th).

The La Salle-Byrne controversy (news of which was printed in The Tribune on the evening of Aug 16th, mentioned as unimportant in the Leader-Press of that night but not printed in full until the evening of Aug. 17th; printed in The Chronicle on the morning of Aug. 17th).

The arrest of Merch Childers for alleged delivery of two most famous criminals of the United States (printed in The Tribune evening of August 26, printed in The Chronicle morning of August 27th, and will likely be printed in Leader-Press tonight for the first time).

These instances are only of the most important news. On all details following the first announcement of these sensations, and in its news from day to day The Tribune is far ahead of any other newspaper published in La Crosse.

To readers of newspapers, the news is the thing sought and threfore this becomes an important matter. The Chronicle cannot be charged with so great lack of enterprise as the Leader-Press, as it cannot be positively said they would not have had the stories at the same time they appeared in The Tribune had The Chronicle been an evening paper. They had them as soon as they pulbished, but as they read them in The Tribune, it cannot be said whether they would or would not have been missed had they not read them in the evening paper. But no excuse can be made for the Leader-Press missing the most important news of the month, or not realizing its importance when it did happen to get it.

There is but one deduction to be made from all this. It is that The Tribune is the live newspaper of La Crosse—the paper that is characterized by enterprise, intelligence and effectiveness. It gets the news first and prints it first. It is called a "knocker" by its competitors because it stands for the rights of the people as against the greed of public service companies, and because it stands for honest adinistration of the affairs of government. But it has already made certain the saving of immense sums to the people of this community in light and power; and it is the newspaper that prints the news first.

WHAT A CRIME IS THERE

Discussing the work still to come before the grand jury in Milwaukee, The Free Press tells of the following incident:

> "Among other deals which may be taken up tihs week are the asphalt paving contracts. The jury is anxious to find out what circumstances accounted for the firm hold the asphalt trust obtained in Milwaukee in the last decade.
>
> "The presence of Anton Felton, a salesman for Corcoran brothers, before the grand jury last week, gave rise to a rumor that perhaps the firm had been selling supplies to the city. 'Con' Corcoran, president of the council and a member of the firm, denied this yesterday, and offered to show the books of the firm.
> "'Felton wanted us to sell to the city when bids were asked, but I would not let him,' said Corcoran. 'I told him that he could buy from us and sell to the city if he desired, but that owing to my position in the council I would not allow the firm to make the sale.'"

This is of interest in La Crosse only because it shows that the grand jury in Milwaukee has taken seriously infringements of the law prohibiting city and county officials from taking part in city or county contracts; and because it shows that public officials in Milwaukee think it worth while to show that they have not taken part in such contracts—if they can show it. It seems likely that no such disregard of the law has been permitted in La Crosse, as under the watchful eye of the city attorney any contracts of that character would not have been permitted to be closed.

PROVERBS.

Paul goeth before a fall.

A bird in the high school is worth two in the bush?

It's a long alley that has no "bum" concrete.

It is easier to break into jail than to break out of jail.

To the victors belong the paving contracts.

NATURAL HISTORY.

The alderman is corpulent,
He represents a ward;
But he doesn't own the ward, a fact
For which we thank the Lord.

A supervisor is a man
Who works from morn 'til night
On county jobs, altho' b'gobbs,
He knows it isn't right.

The turtle's made of soup; he moves
Like he was in a stupor:
But the slowest things work in the wings—
They bear the name of "super."

The Adam's apple is a fruit
Grown on a rubber tree;
That is, the neck produces it—
The "rubber-neck," you see.

THE WORRY.

You ask what's all the row about?
What worries people so,
These balmy days? And Logic says:
"The people ought to know."

Subscribing to the Leader-Press is like transacting business on a promisory note—you get the news "Thirty Days After Date."

THE SPECTATOR.

Wrapped up in a roll of mailing paper and having every indication of being a magazine of some sort of advertising matter County Clerk Rawlinson Saturday received a genuine Panama hat from his brother-in-law, J. J. C. Moore, in Texas. The small package in which it was done up testified to the quality of the hat, and when it was unwrapped the crown sprang out into shape as if it were rubber. The weave on this hat is the finest we have been privileged to inspect, and Mr. Rawlinson is justly proud of his new possession, his only regret being that summer will not last all winter. This Panama like all the real articles, is woven of sea weed which is constantly kept under water during the process. Its finished appearance a few feet away is that of fine linen, and it has a soft silky texture.

One Frankie La Salle and minion Blanche Milton ran foul of Chief Byrne of the La Crosse police force last week and have succeeded in creating considerable talk of lifting the lid. It would be rather funny, wouldn't it, if the lid were lifted in La Crosse. Lots of people "have had their suspicions" for lo! these many months that something is decayed in that vicinity and needs airing. Talk about lifting the lid in La Crosse! Wouldn't that jar you?—Bangor Independent.

RECLAIMING

The soil consists of a light clayey sand which is subject to slipping or sluff when wet. There are evidences of whole hill sides sliding hundreds of feet. Many parts of this canal line will require concrete lining. Several tunnels varying from 1,000 to 1,600 feet in length and at one point an inverted syphon 1,400 feet in length under a maximum head of 105 feet, will be necessary.

The canal will have a capacity of 1,300 second feet grade of 10 inches to 1 mile, depth 10 feet, bottom width 30 feet and top width 50 feet.

(3) After the water of the St. Mary lakes has been conducted over into Milk river by means of the above mentioned canal, it will pass down the natural channel of Milk river and be stored again in the Chain lakes reservoir. Before reaching this reservoir it will have passed through some 125 miles of Canadian territory and in this lies the greatest obstacle to the construction of the whole project.

The Canadians have already expended considerable money upon the development of irrigation works in this vicinity. They have their system in operation and are using the water of Milk river.

Before construction can proceed it will be necessary that an agreement or treaty be made with the Canadians by which we will be guaranteed the delivery of the St. Mary water that has been diverted over into Milk river by the United States. This question will have to be settled by an international treaty or agreement and no matter how simple or fair these may seem they are acted upon very slowly indeed and it may be several months before definite action can be taken.

An earth dam 2,600 feet in length and 90 feet in height will be built across the Milk river at a point some 30 miles northwest of Havre, Montana, and will creat what is known as Chain lakes reservoir. The dam will back the water some 21 miles up the valley and within 5 miles of the boundary line. The capacity of this reservoir is 375,000, acre feet. This dam together with the necessary outlet works, etc., will cost about $476,000.

It might be added that this dam will be founded on a more or less quicksand foundation and if ever constructed will be of considerable interest to the engineering profession. The reservoir will be used entirely for storage purpose and the water drawn from it to serve the lands below as occasion requires.

(4) From the Chain lakes reservoir the water passes down the natural channel of Milk river again. Near Chinook a low diversion dam will be constructed and from here irrigating canals extend on either side of the river to serve lands between Chinook and Dodson. At Dodson another dam will be built and canals similar to the above will constructed to serve lands between Dodson and Glasgow.

The irrigable lands lie on either side of the Milk river between Chinook and Glasgow, Montana, and aggregate some 200,000 acres.

The land can be entered according to the homestead laws but in addition thereto the entryman must pay the necessary water right. The amount of this water right will depend upon the total cost of the project. In this particular project the price per acre will be between $20 and $25 and will probably be paid in ten annual installments. No individual will be given a water right for more than 160 acres. During the first 10 years the whole system will be under the control of the government but after that it will be turned over to the people. To the ordinary individual the price of $20 or $25 per acre will seem an exorbitant price, yet to any one familiar with the results obtainable from irrigated lands it will seem a very fair figure.

The total cost of the entire project may be $4,500,000.

NEW FACTORY BEGINS OPERATIONS

The Summit Foundry company have completed the additions to the plant formerly operated by the Fountain City Drill Co., have their new machinery all installed, and have commenced operations. With the improvements made in the plant and additions thereto, they now have one of the most convenient and the largest stove plants in the northwest. They have imported a number of skilled machanics from various eastern points but will also employ a number of local men. The foremen of the several departments come from Geneva, N. Y., where the eastern plant of the Summit Foundry Co. is located. The general superintendent, Robert Reid, is a brother of Wm. Reid, president of the company, and has been connected with the Summit Foundry Co. for a number of years. The foreman of the molding department, J. O'Shaughnessy, also comes from Geneva and has been associated with the company for the past eight years. The foreman of the mounting department, Geo. Haley, likewise comes from Geneva, N. Y., and has been familiar with the mounting of stoves from his boyhood.

The management of the affairs of the company is in the hands of T. W. Folger, who is well known in the city, and J. F. Quay, treasurer, and one of the incorporators of the company, who recently moved his family to La Crosse. The company will employ from sixty to seventy-five men this fall. They now have the largest molding capacity of any foundry in the city.

A crew of men were busy there today laying out the patterns, and the clay which they use for that purpose came from Albany, N. Y. Hermann Fjelstad of the north side is overhauling the entire electric connections in the plant with the exception of the dynamo which is already in running condition and has a capacity of 250 lights.

A large new noiseless Buffalo cupalo and force blower has just been installed. It is one of the largest and most up-to-date blowers manufactured and came from Buffalo, N. Y. The cupalo with which it is connected is seven feet in diameter and has five tweeters for draft upon the molten iron.

Near the molding room is a room containing six rattling mills in which the castings are placed to have the dirt shaken from them. One of these machines is a very large one. From this room they are taken to the grinding and buffing rooms and then to the nickel plating and polishing rooms, all of which are ready to be operated at any time. The solution is already in the nickel plating vats and will be used Monday which will be the first actual opening day of the foundry.

Near these rooms is a room which has been fitted up for the accommodation of the employes for their toilet, etc.

The value of an institution of this kind to the city can not be underestimated. Although for the first few months they will only employ in the neighborhood of one hundred men, they will nevertheless in the near future employ many more and their pay roll will be among the largest paid by any plant in the city.

Some of the employes are experts from out of the city but these have all moved their families to this city where they will spend their money.

All in all it is one of the best factories which has ever come to the city of La Crosse.

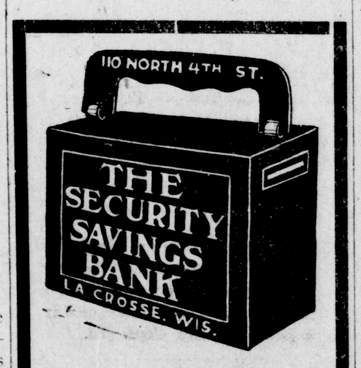

Its resources are large, its shipping facilities the best and it is bound to grow.

A full line of cast ranges, steel ranges, base burners or parlor stoves, base burning oak stoves, surface burning oak stoves, cook stoves, wood chunk stoves, hot blasts, and hot air furnaces will be manufactured in a great variety of styles and sizes. In fact the assortment is as large as that of the oldest concerns in the country. The management of the Summit Foundry Co. is in the hands of men of large experience who have made the needs of the people in the stove line a study of a life time, which has resulted in the production of a line of goods which is second to none.

The people of La Crosse will have an opportunity to buy goods made at home, at the most favorable prices, and with the assurance that they are getting something which will give them satisfaction and which bears the personal guarantee of the manufacturer.

Thinks La Crosse Will Win.

The Wausau Record thinks that La Crosse will surely win the pennant, saying:

As stated by the Daily Record yesterday there is very little doubt now but that La Crosse will win the Wisconsin state association baseball pennant. That club now has a lead of 53 points over its nearest rival and is playing the best and most consistent game of any team in the association. This outcome will not meet with popular favor because Manager Hawley has made himself unpopular throughout the circuit and his team has played what is known in baseball parlance as "dirty ball." That the bunch is a fast one admits of no doubt and it is unfortunate that the team has not made itself popular.

Beloit, Oshkosh and Freeport are having a grand struggle for second place with the chances in favor of Oshkosh winning the coveted position.

Wausau, unless the team meets with unexpected bad luck, will finish in its present position for Green Bay does not seen to be within striking distance.

It is not believed here that the La Crosse team has by any means the cinch that the Wausau paper thinks. It is really but a very small margin that separates the four leading clubs. There are yet a considerable number of games to play and a little bad luck or let down in the playing of La Crosse would bring her down very rapidly and her opponents up in a like proportion. The Freeport fans are still extremely hopeful of seing the pennant flying over their home grounds.

Freeport Called Down.

Mr. O'Rourke, manager of the Oshkosh team, in speaking of the games played at La Crosse and Freeport said that the contests in the former city were strictly on their merits and that the Oshkosh players were treated with the same degree of fair play visiting teams are given in Oshkosh. But at Freeport everything was different. The fans there were entirely destitute of any sense of fair play and acted worse than a lot of Indians in their desire to see the Freeport team win. Mr. O'Rourke says that the Oshkosh team was virtually robbed of every game that it lost at Freeport by decisions of the umpire, and the determination of the Freeport team and its backers not to be defeated if any means, fair or foul, could prevent it.

NOTORIOUS VAG SENTENCED

Andrew Buchda, a character well known to the police and having an unsavory record in the records at central station, was sentenced to 45 days in the county jail by Judge Brindley today on the charge of being a vagrant and drunkard.

The prisoner, in addition to being generally shiftless, the police say, is addicted to the habit of meddling with little girls and a couple of years ago received a sentence for this offense. He is a bricklayer by trade but seldom works.

MADISON GOLFERS WIN

Madison golfers secured possession of the Brittingham-Hixon cup Saturday until next year. La Crosse won the match on the links of the Country club but could not play strong enough to overcome the big lead secured by the Madison golfers in previous contests this year.

Schaghticoke Country club golfers won by a score of ten up but a total of twenty-nine up was necessary to secure the cup for the coming year. Maple bluff had a lead of twenty-eight before play began and this was cut to enghteen at the finish.

The visiting golfers who played Saturday follow:

Besides offering this excellent course for the readers consideration, the Keefe has something very nice to offer this year. We will organize a special Normal training class, to train students to teach business college branches. We will limit the number in this particular class to 25 members, and when they have completed the course, we expect to place them in good paying positions as teachers, or help them to establih schools of their own.

THERE WILL ALSO BE A DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC THIS YEAR.
THE SUBJECTS WILL INCLUDE PIANO, VOICE AND VIOLIN.

Special Inducements will be given to Students who enroll now.
